BOARD OF MISSIONS GREET METHODISTS

vision applied towards the little band of believers gathered together with an intent of being methodical in their methods. The name was afterwards applied to the club which Mr. Wesley formed.

Methodism came as a fresh and invigorating spirit to the Christian church at the time when spiritualism had departed from it, not only from the pew but practically also from the pulpit. Topicality the author of "Rock of Ages" was authority for this.

Continuing, Bishop Hamilton told of John Wesley's life, of his early work, of his persecution by his own church—the church of England—those were doleful times, times now happily changed. He spoke of the awakening of Wesley to the true life when he heard the simple services of the Moravian church.

The bishop spoke of the danger which had been Methodism's by the work of earnest but illiterate people whose belief in the giving of experience caused misunderstandings. He quoted, with effect, a verse now dropped from the Methodist hymn book which was crude in its meter and measure but which carried true fervor with it.

He asserted that Wesley was more of a figure in England in troublous times than the elder Pitt himself, that the Wesleyans by their silent influence prevented any repetition of the revolution in England of the awful scenes in Paris when the streets ran with blood.

The objects of the conference were stated in lucid terms by Bishop Hamilton. The different classes of workers and their leaders were defined. He dwelt on the uses of humor. The world he said was moved by good nature. There is nothing so unfortunate as a man to have a great intellect but no humor, and the humor of the Methodist preacher had in itself been a power.

In closing he said that he had come here primarily to find preachers who would not quarrel with their neighbors. They must help their neighbors. The people of other churches had been more than kind to Methodists, and good fellowship prevailed everywhere. The big plantation men some of them not professing Christians themselves, provided houses for their laborers and while of course they did this knowing that it was a good thing to have their men well housed, it was a pleasing thing to see the generous manner in which it was done. Bishop Hamilton in his peroration made a fine appeal for Christian unity.

Just at the close of the Bishop's address Rev. Dr. Sereno Bishop, Rev. Dr. Gulick, Rev. Dr. Bingham, P. C. Jones and Theodore Richards entered and took seats in the conference. They were formally introduced and welcomed by the Bishop as representing the Hawaiian missions.

The minutes of the last meeting were read in English and translated into Korean and Japanese and were approved. At the request of P. C. Jones, President of the Hawaiian Missions Rev. Dr. Sereno Bishop spoke the words of greeting to the Methodist conference. Dr. Bishop gave a sketch of the founding of the board and the early missionary work done. He stated incidentally that he himself was not only the oldest member of the board but he believed that he was the oldest white person born on the islands and Rev. Dr. Gulick was the next. He spoke of the peace and amity which had ever prevailed between the Protestant churches and missionaries here in Hawaii and recalled an early incident when Methodist missionaries on their way to Oregon stopped here on their way to their station.

Bishop Hamilton thanked the delegation for the kind and Christian greetings of the Board of Missions. He recalled an interesting fact of being at a meeting held thirty years ago in Boston of the "Old Boys" when he heard an old gentleman of ninety say that he had been the representative of the shipping firm which had arranged for the ship that took the first missionaries to Hawaii. The incident had slipped his mind until he came down here.

He also remembered at another meeting Bishop Jaynes making a remark to Rev. Jason Lee who was one of the pioneers of the Oregon mission which called here years ago.

"You are twice welcome Bishop," said P. C. Jones. "I'm an old Boston school boy myself."

On motion the members of the delegation from the Board of Missions were unanimously made honorary members of the conference.

Reports of committees were received. C. P. Hong, Y. S. Kim, S. Hyen, C. H. Min and K. C. Lee were reported for membership of the annual conference. Rev. Mr. Wadman stated that it was their wish to go forward to the California conference.

Rev. S. Miura of the Presbyterian church in Japan who applied for admission was reported on favorably and Bishop Hamilton ordered that in the meantime he be admitted to the conference pending his taking of the vows next Sunday.

Bishop Hamilton explained the duties imposed by the forming of an annual conference and of the work of the different committees.

The following standing committees were appointed:

Education: E. Tokimosa, S. Hyen. Bible and Tracts: T. Takahashi, C. P. Hong, C. H. Yin.

Sunday School: S. Fuji, Miss Harrison, C. S. Yi.

Missions: G. Motokawa Miss Jayne, S. Hyen.

Church Extension: S. Miura, C. H. Yin, E. Tokimosa.

Sabbath: Y. S. Kim, K. C. Lee, R. Abe.

Temperance: T. Takahashi, J. M. Martin, S. Fuji.

Conference Relations: G. Motokawa, S. Fuji, T. Takahashi, J. W. Wadman.

Examination: S. Fuji, T. Takahashi, G. Motokawa, J. W. Wadman.

Nominations: C. H. Min, G. Motokawa, J. W. Wadman.

Public Worship: The three Honolulu pastors.

On motion it was arranged that a statistical meeting should be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock when accounts will be examined.

The quaint Methodist custom of calling the roll of the conference with a view to moral character and as each name was called the members of the conference echoed in many tongues the equivalent for "Nothing against him."

Thus was a clear bill of moral health established.

Reports of the different Japanese missions were received and adopted.

A particularly interesting account was given by Rev. Tokimosa on the subject of the baby home at Kahuku plantation where he has care of some 75 children whose mothers are at work.

He said that while it is difficult to convert Buddhists to Christianity Buddhists do not object to the children going to Christian Sunday schools.

Rev. T. Takahashi reported from Hela plantation.

Bro. Fuji of Maui told of the work at Lahaina.

C. H. Min gave his report on the Korean Methodist work in Honolulu.

Rev. Mr. Wadman made the interesting statement that the average Korean has no religion at all and can be readily reached by Christian influences if properly approached.

Before adjourning at noon Rev. Mr. Wadman made special announcement of the reception to the Bishop tonight at 7:30.

Mrs. Hamilton gave an interesting verbal account of the work of the Women's Home Missions and of the Immigrant Girls' Home in New York and the meeting adjourned after singing the Doxology and the pronouncement of the benediction.

Fitz Collapsed At The End Of The 13th

FOUGHT THIRTEEN ROUNDS WITH O'BRIEN SUCH AS IT IS SAID NO OTHER MAN OF HIS YEARS IN THE WORLD COULD HAVE DONE—BUT AGE TOLD AND HE HAD TO YIELD TO THE YOUNGER MAN—THE O'BRIEN-FITZSIMMONS FIGHT.

SAN FRANCISCO, December 21.—Overcome by exhaustion and severely beaten about the face and body, old Bob Fitzsimmons last night collapsed at the end of the thirteenth round of his fight with "Philadelphia Jack" O'Brien. For thirteen rounds he had made such a fight as no other man of his age in the world could make; for thirteen rounds he had stood gamely up before the slashing punches of the clever man from Quakertown, giving punch for punch and trying always. Then, when he went to his corner for the minute's breathing spell, he "caved." Old age came over him. For the first time in his fighting career he had to give up trying.

And so it was that youth was served. At intervals Fitz showed flashes of his old awkward cleverness; at all times he was a formidable opponent. But age, that unseen thing that will bring the best of them down, was not to be denied. Men marveled that the Cornishman could have stayed so long, and those about the ringside talked of this very thing before the tenth round came. For O'Brien was abnormally clever, stepping in and out of danger with the ease of a dancing master, and some of the tactics. He fought a careful fight—the fight of a man who is winning and who is willing to bide his time.

The final collapse of Fitz was superinduced by a vicious left hook to the stomach toward the end of the round. The punch was not enough to put the old man away, for he fought on gamely through the half minute that remained.

GILBERT CONVICTED OF CUTTING TIMBER

WAS FINED $250 BY JUDGE WHITNEY TODAY—GILBERT'S JAP EMPLOYEES DID THE CUTTING.

The government timber cutting case ended in the police court this morning in the conviction of A. St. John Gilbert. He was fined $250 by Judge Whitney. The defendant gave notice of an appeal.

Particular interest was attached to this case as it was the first of the kind in the Territory, and will no doubt prove to be the opening of a vigorous campaign that the government proposes to inaugurate against those who cut government timber.

The case against Gilbert has been on trial for several days before Judge Whitney and has been contested at numerous points by A. S. Humphreys for the defense. Attorney General A. V. Peters appeared for the prosecution. Gilbert was originally arrested in company with two Japanese employees on a charge of cutting the timber on government land in the Waialeale section.

The case against one of the Japs was nolle prossed and the other Jap was discharged. Gilbert, in his defense today, claimed that the Japs had cut the timber through a misapprehension of his order to them. The principal credit for the conviction of Gilbert belongs to Chester Doyle of the Attorney General's department, for Doyle took two surveyors with him to Waialeale a week ago and succeeded in working up the evidence.

ALAMEDA HERE WITH BIG MAIL

PASSENGER LINER MADE PORT ON TIME FROM SAN FRANCISCO WITH SMALL CROWD.

On time from San Francisco, the S. S. Alameda arrived this morning chock full of freight but with a small passenger list. The vessel left San Francisco December 23, two days before Christmas, so few people evidently desired to go to sea before that holiday hence the vessel had a small crowd of passengers. She experienced some rough weather during the trip. She sighted the S. S. Rosecrans with tow on Christmas Day. A square rigged vessel was seen off Molokai this morning.

The vessel brought 1,750 tons of freight, food for port, including fresh fruits, meats and vegetables. She had one horse for D. P. R. Isenberg and brought 350 sacks of mail, representing five days later correspondence and papers.

Among the passengers who arrived were Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Bennett, tourists from Idaho.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Marpole were also arriving passengers. He is the general traffic manager of the Canadian Pacific R. R. Company and is here on a visit.

Z. K. Meyers returned to Honolulu after a brief trip to the mainland.

I. Rubenstein the local merchant returned.

S. S. Paxton of the Singer Machine Company, arrived on a business trip.

Miss Elsie Saunders daughter of Captain Saunders the local pilot, returned from an extended visit to the mainland.

Mrs. Sprinks mother of Mr. Sprinks of W. G. Irwin and Company arrived.

Angy Japs Threatened Big Raid

A FEDERAL ARREST AT WAIALUA WHICH DEVELOPS A PECULIAR SCANDAL.

A serious riot may have been averted at Waiialua last night by the arrest of one O. Mayall, on a federal warrant charging a violation of the Edmunds Act. There have been rumors for some time that he had kidnapped the wife of a well known Japanese of Waiialua, and reports were received by the authorities that the Japs were planning a raid to release her. Mayall's home is at the station and the Japs, according to report, were going to break in and investigate the truth of the sensational rumors, in which event the accused might have had a hard time.

United States Marshal Henry, accompanied by Interpreter Shiozawa, went to Waiialua yesterday, with a warrant sworn to by District Attorney Breckons, and Mayall was brought back under arrest and lodged in Oahu jail. The woman is held as a witness.

Mayall is the station agent at Waiialua and lives in the depot building. The woman is said to have been living with him and on one occasion when her husband appeared on the scene, a revolver in the hands of Mayall drove him quickly away, according to the reports which so aroused the Japanese in Waiialua.

The federal authorities were investigating the case when a report came that a Japanese raid on the building was planned for last night. Hendry went to Waiialua and got in a raid first, thus possibly preventing riot and bloodshed.

RAILROAD OFFICIAL HERE.

Among the arrivals by the S. S. Alameda this morning were R. Marpole and wife of Vancouver, B. C. He is an important man in the Canadian railroad world of Canada, being general superintendent of the western division of the Canadian Pacific Railway. Mr. and Mrs. Marpole are guests at the Moana. They have had a holiday trip through California and will spend a couple of weeks here in Hawaii sight-seeing.

CARTER LEAVES TOWN.

Governor Carter left this morning for Waiialua, with his family. He will spend tomorrow, Sunday and New Year's day at the Haleiwa Hotel and will return to Honolulu Monday morning.

PLEA POSTPONED.

The case of Kalika Kowasalo, charged with murder in the first degree, was called before Judge Lindsay this morning for plea. It was postponed to tomorrow morning.

for a visit to her son. Miss Sprinks also arrived by the vessel but suffering from illness which may develop into pneumonia.

Walter Tupper is making his first trip as the travelling passenger agent of the Oceanic Company vice J. Sutherland Ross who has accepted a responsible position with the Southern Pacific R. R. Company.

The Alameda is scheduled to depart at 10 a. m. Wednesday for San Francisco. She takes the next mail for San Francisco.

CARTER'S VIEWS OF THE FUTURE

ed is a further development of it, and may solve the question of how some of the present loan appropriations shall be carried out, as well as making a basis for future legislative action.

"In a financial way," the governor added, "we are very much improved. I am very pleased at the prospect that we shall no longer have to register warrants and take two per cent from the salaries of our employees and two per cent from the sums we pay those who sell us goods."

"The light opened ahead by the work Secretary Atkinson has done should encourage our business interests more by far than has been expressed, at least. It solidifies our future prospects much more than is generally appreciated, or at least more than has been stated. Without the surety that we could secure immigrants there was an element of uncertainty in the future which was affecting us all more or less. It has been removed now, and I believe our leading business men feel greatly encouraged. Jack has opened a light ahead."

"To a large extent I believe the present period will be looked back to as a turning point in our history, beginning movements which lead us to a grand future. The aim must be that our plantations shall grow into small, self-governing villages or communities, in which are populations of citizens prospering together and working for the upbuilding of the islands. When the day comes when Hawaiian plantations become such villages, managing their own public affairs as do other American villages, I shall indeed have a glorious country. In a purely business way we shall be on a more solid and enduring foundation. The big plan manufacturer of sugar will have a more steady and certain dividend."

The governor opposed the expression that Hawaii needs a "more desirable class of population," and expressed the utmost confidence in the proper development of the present inhabitants. "We cannot have a more desirable population," he said, "it is our duty to see that those the people we have are educated in the American way. I am thoroughly in accord with the conclusions reached by Professor Scott in his article in my annual report, that the various elements in our population can be made into good citizens. It has been done and is being done, under our school system, and it is to do this principally that we are going to Washington to ask for financial assistance."

"In this respect I believe that Hawaii is furnishing an example for the whole United States. Teachers passing through here from the Philippines have expressed the utmost amazement at what we have done,—they say we have reached a stage that it will take a generation to reach in the Philippines. We have not had the trouble America had with Chinese in the west for example, because we have not treated Chinese as the west did. The westerners treated the Chinese in a manner in which they would not stand themselves and the result has been only a natural one. In Hawaii we have acted upon the principle of human equality, of following the Golden Rule, which is the very foundation of our government. We have acted on the idea that all men are equal, and it has produced a result ahead of any other of the kind anywhere."

"If we ask Washington for money, it is to keep up this work, to get rid of a financial millstone. By gifts of school lands throughout the west, the United States took the burden of education off that section. We ask here that the same be done here. If we don't get it, we are not going to throw up our hands and quit, but we claim that the work that is to be done here calls for the assistance we ask."

The governor referred to the establishment of Japanese schools, with the assistance of plantations in many cases. He said that if the children were there merely taught the Japanese language and educated in the elements, such as arithmetic, in Japanese as they are in English, the plan, was good. "But if they are taught the patriotism of Dai Nippon it is a great error," he said. "It is the same with the establishment of German or other foreign schools. We do not want to assist in the teaching of any patriotism except that of America."

NOLTE IS TO QUIT BUSINESS

WELL KNOWN COFFEE SALOON WILL LOSE ITS PROPRIETOR IN A FEW DAYS MORE.

Henry J. Nolte will retire from business at the end of the year, but it is not yet certain whether the business will be continued or whether it will be closed entirely.

Nolte's coffee saloon has been one of Honolulu's landmarks for twenty-five years. At one time it was located at the corner of Queen and Nuuanu streets, which block Nolte still owns, but for over twenty years the restaurant has had its home in the Beaver Block in lower Fort street.

Business and professional men have long made Nolte's a daily rendezvous for luncheon and it has been a general meeting place for politicians of every stripe.

MADE A FAST PASSAGE.

The barkentine S. G. Wilder arrived this morning from Guaymas, Mexico, in ballast. She made the run in 15 days which is a very fine passage, as the Mexican port is nearly 2,000 miles from Honolulu. Nothing of special interest occurred during the voyage. She is to load sugar for San Francisco. The Wilder went to Guaymas with a cargo of lumber from Gray's Harbor.

TRYING TO FINISH.

After a night session lasting until ten last night, the case of Godfrey vs. Rowland was resumed this morning before Judge Robinson and a jury. It is in its fourth week, and efforts are being made to finish it before the end of the term. The morning was devoted to rebuttal. There will probably be another night session.
